Landscapes for Learning Mathematics

The following three associations have contributed to the development the NWMC2024 conference program through presentations and additional math opportunities that include interactive materials and emergent experiences: The Julia Robinson Math Festival, Public Math, and MathHappens.

Visit the MacDonald lobby at the Fairmont on Friday, October 25 to engage in math play and learn more about each of these organizations. Socialize after the BCTM AGM with colleagues and new friends while talking math and exploring the environment through a mathematical lens.
